Changing the Ordinary into the Extraordinary

A one-day Leadership seminar highlighting the crucial role Leadership plays in the development of EVERY business, and providing 7 valuable principles about how one can enhance their leadership effectiveness.

It is said that the world of business is generally characterized by being "over managed and under led".

This phrase probably encapsulates what many senior executives feel about there being too many managers but not enough genuine authoritative, inspirational leaders in their businesses.

The Scandinavians have a wonderful expression "that the fish rots from the head" and that aptly summarizes the reasons for the poor performance of many companies.

Yet the solutions are not that difficult to implement. Encourage, inspire and motivate from leaders, show leaders the alternative, better way than just controlling and monitoring staff, and transformation of the work place will follow.

This one day seminar will send managers and leaders away with a fresh and motivated perspective about what they can do at the office, which will meaningfully assist them transform their organisations.
